USDA RURAL DEVELOPMENT ANNOUNCES FUNDING FOR CITY OF DEKALB

DEKALB, Texas, May 1, 2004 – Bryan Daniel, Texas USDA Rural Development State Director, announced today that the City of DeKalb received a $1,300,000 loan and a $200,000 grant through the agency's Community Programs Water and Waste Disposal Loan and Grant fund. The effort is part of the USDA's national program to help provide rural areas with safe, dependable water and modern sewage systems.

"One of the goals of USDA Rural Development is to provide water and wastewater treatment programs that target public health benefits and provide economic opportunities to America's rural communities," said Daniel. "Rural residents can utilize our programs to help provide essential public services that will enhance their quality of life."

The loan funds for the City of DeKalb will be used to modernize their underground water infrastructure. The improvements include two new vertical turbine pumps, rehabilitation of the elevated tank, and approximately 28,800 linear feet of water distribution lines. After the improvements, the users served by this project will increase from approximately 890 to approximately 1,052.

In Fiscal Year 2003, $64.4 million of loan and grant assistance was infused into 71 projects and assisted 137,451 rural Texans. USDA Rural Development's water and wastewater program is designed to bring fresh, clean drinking water and sanitary, environmentally sound sewage facilities to rural America's 53 million residents. Loans and grants are available to rural communities with fewer than 10,000 residents. Public bodies, corporations operated on a nonprofit basis, and Indian tribes, that are unable to obtain credit from other sources at reasonable rates and terms, are eligible for assistance.
