USDA Rural Development has financed multifamily apartment complexes to provide affordable rental housing for persons with very low, low, and moderate income levels. The rents are affordable with many of the units having rental assistance available to reduce the monthly housing and utility costs to the tenants to 30% of their incomes.

Many of the complexes have units specifically designed for persons with handicaps or disabilities. Some of the complexes are reserved for elderly persons, age 62 or over, or persons with a handicap or disability.

Please contact personnel at the complexes listed in this brochure for specific details, the availability of units, and how to apply for housing. Telephone numbers and addresses are provided for your reference, as well as contact numbers for each of the Rural Development offices in Wyoming.
